Sartorial Collection

Geiger Textiles collaborated with BassamFellows to create the five menswear-inspired patterns of the Sartorial Collection. Each pattern blends high-craft techniques and industrial processes to fulfill the Geiger Textiles promise of delivering luxury at every price point. From the heavy weavings of Corded Stripe, Double Beam Redux, and True Herringbone to the subtle three-dimensionality of Mini Plaid and Micro Houndstooth, the collection offers a variety of texture and scale while remaining focused on patterns that are integral to their constructions.

Sartorial Collection

CORDED STRIPE

Corded Stripe is a modern interpretation of the traditional rep weave produced on a specialty wire velvet loom, creating an épinglé construction. The pattern is inspired by a traditional stripe found in men's neckwear, with thin and thick stripes creating a calming symmetry. This exceptionally versatile palette integrates six restrained colors of yarn, which reference colors from prior BassamFellows collections, making Corded Stripe a strong statement piece that coordinates well across the Geiger Textiles offering.

DOUBLE BEAM REDUX

As the name implies, Double Beam Redux is a reinterpretation of Double Beam from Geiger Textiles' Ensemble Collection. Both textiles use the same double-beam loom, which produces fabrics of great heft. With Double Beam Redux, the basket weave construction combines a lustrous rayon warp with a new matte post-consumer recycled polyester to pass the CA TB 117-2013 upholstery flammability test. In addition, a fine black yarn has been added to give each box a subtle outline that creates a small checker pattern. BassamFellows also updated the seven colorways based on their color study of natural pigments.

A classic menswear pattern that has seen numerous interpretations over the decades, houndstooth patterns are strong without being loud. Appropriate for high-traffic applications, Micro Houndstooth is exceptionally durable and can be cleaned easily with water, solvent, or diluted household bleach. True Herringbone makes an elegant, lasting impression. It is a large-scale reinterpretation of classic herringbone patterns found in parquetry and masonry as well as high-end menswear. Based on traditional needlepoint construction, the woven pattern uses a three-color striation in the filling direction complemented by the subtle shine of the warp threads. Colors in each of the nine colorways are mixed with natural tones (beige or gray) to create an effect that is easy on the eye.
